Effective Reduction of Age Spots

The Palomar Intense Pulsed Light offers patients another chance to have a smooth, clear complexion

No matter how much fruit and vegetables we eat, there's no way of fighting off all the signs of aging. Sure, taking precautionary measures can help, but the development of age spots often affects many no matter how much dedication is given to healthy-living prevention.

For patients who seek a younger-looking complexion free of sunspots, age spots, vessels and irregular pigmentation, the IPL Photofacial may be the most appropriate procedure.

The IPL Photofacial treatment is effective at combating these problems because of its powerful light technology that can be used to treat the face, neck, chest and hands while providing long-lasting results.

Toni C. Stockton, M.D. of Stockton Dermatology expressed that she has seen many positive results from the treatment that has left patients with a clearer complexion and overall greater skin tone.

'Several patients have experienced the IPL Photofacial treatment and its results,' she said. 'The common characteristic that I observe is that many of the spots from age subside, leaving the skin more refined.'

If you or someone you know has redness, sunspots or overall irregular complexion, call our office at 480.610.6366 and ask to meet with a member of our aesthetic team to discuss how a series of IPL Photofacials can help.

Enjoying the warmth and rays from the Arizona sun is often an enjoyable thing to do during the summer months. Unfortunately, time spent poolside often leaves the skin looking pigmented, spotty and dull.

Fortunately, the aesthetic providers at Stockton Dermatology understand this and are offering a solution that can significantly lessen the appearance of sunspots and irregular pigmentation on the face, hands and chest. The procedure is known as Intense Pulsed Light (IPL) Photofacial and this month the team is offering a fall special.
